It's not good enough for Charlie Bewley to get up at first light and run 42.2 kilometres in the upcoming BMO marathon — he has to get up pre-dawn and run a half-marathon first.

The British actor and Twilight star — who plays a Volturi vampire named Demetri — plans to hit the pavement at the appalling hour of 4 a.m. to run a 64-kilometre ultramarathon in memory of a friend who died of cancer.

Jocelyn Clarke, who worked as Dakota Fanning's stand-in on the set of The Twilight Saga: New Moon, died on Valentine's Day. She was 36.

Bewley said Clarke's illness and death had a huge impact on him.

"We surround ourselves with comfort every day and we never really get to explore our inner strength," he said.

"This challenge is to put myself in a high-stakes situation and to summon from deep strength I know I have in there."

Between now and the race on May 1, Bewley is collecting funds to donate to the Lion's Gate Hospital Foundation, which, together with the B.C. Cancer Agency, helped Jocelyn throughout her illness.

"(The ultra-marathon) is not something I know I can do for sure," he said. "It's all about visiting that dark place and ... pushing my own mental and physical boundaries."

"I expect to be running, walking and crawling over that finishing line."

Police mark tragic case

► Crystal Dunahee, mother of Michael Dunahee, in Victoria, yesterday.

The disappearance of four-year-old Michael Dunahee from a Victoria playground 20 years ago still haunts police officers and his family.

The crime has remained one of the city's darkest unsolved crimes.

Over the years, Victoria Police Sgt. Grant Hamilton said police have received 10,000 tips and all have been investigated.

Just last month, police obtained DNA evidence from a young man living in Chase, just east of Kamloops, who many believed could have been Dunahee.

Hamilton said the DNA evidence ruled out the young man "who admitted he did look a lot like Michael."

Dunahee vanished on March 24, 1991, while his mother was playing a flag football game and his father was watching from the sidelines. The search for the boy remains one of the largest police investigations in Canadian history, involving thousands of officers over the years.

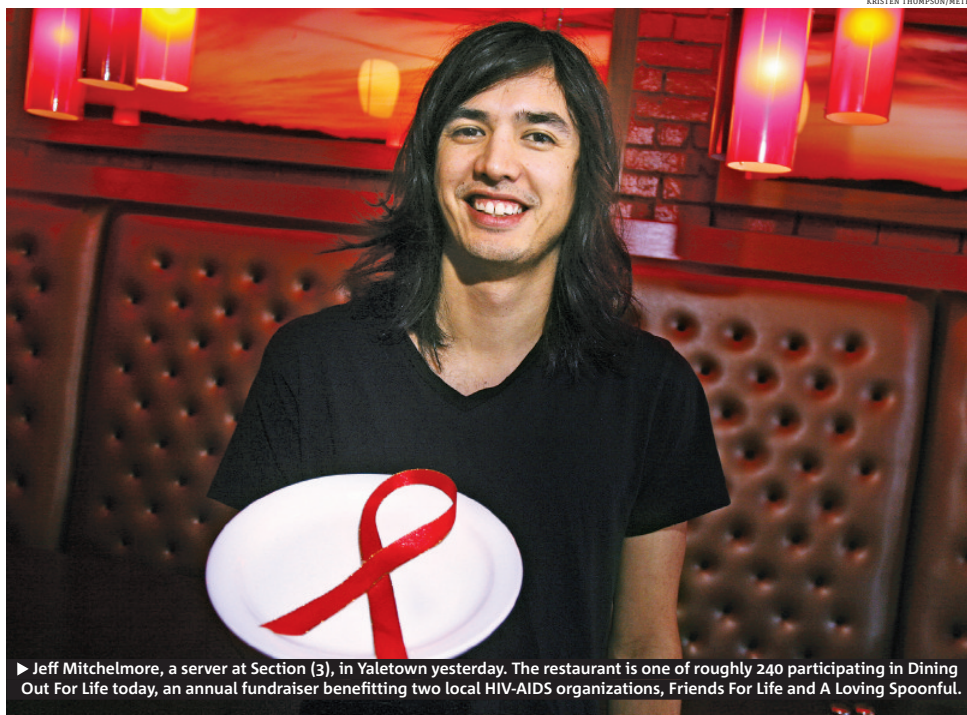

Deputy Chief John Ducker said he lost sleep for years over the case.

He said he was a junior investigator 20 years ago and recalled the massive police investigation that had him working 15 days straight, with no clues.

"I've never seen an effort like that in my history in policing," said Ducker. "We just didn't get that one piece of information."

Hamilton said the case is not closed: "Our goal is to bring Michael home."

Organizers of Dining Out For Life are raising a glass — er, fork — to Elizabeth Taylor today in recognition of the late screen star's commitment to the HIV-AIDS community in Vancouver.

So valued was her contribution that this year's Dining Out For Life event is being dedicated to Taylor, who died Tuesday at age 79.

"Elizabeth Taylor was a leader, philanthropist and advocate for people living with HIV-AIDS, and a vanguard who brought public support to the cause," said Sheena Sargeant, executive director of Friends For Life.

The Elizabeth Taylor AIDS Foundation provided more than $25,000 to help grow the daily meals program at Vancouver's A Loving Spoonful.

"We are eternally grateful for the support we have received from the Elizabeth Taylor AIDS Foundation," said Lisa Martella, executive director of A Loving Spoonful.

"We hope to commemorate her life and continue her legacy."

► B.C.'s top doctor calls taking of anti-radiation pills unnecessary

PHYLICIA TORREVILLAS
VANCOUVER@METRONEWS.CA

Fear over a possible earthquake and radiation fallout from Japan's nuclear plants has got some Vancouverites taking extreme measures despite an assurance from the Health Ministry.

Mark Robson of Gorilla Surplus, a military clothing and gear store, said some people have been buying $50 gas masks and $100 body suits.

"We've (also) got a lot of people come in to get emergency kits ... like emergency candles, blankets and first-aid kits," Robson said.

He said they also get people asking for potassium iodide tablets and Geiger counters, which are used to detect and measure radiation.

But Dr. Perry Kendall, B.C.'s top health officer, said there is no need to take potassium iodide pills to protect against radiation, adding it's unnecessary and can even cause health problems.

Kendall said they have seen small levels of radiation on the West Coast of North America, but B.C. has nothing to fear.

"We expect to continue to see measurable evidence of this power plant-associated radioactivity in the air until about a week after the reactor in Japan has stabilized, and we will continue to monitor the situation closely," Kendall said in a statement.

He made it clear that the radiation levels are low enough that there is no need to panic.

Amputee has prosthetic leg stolen from car

► Police asking for public assistance in recovering limb

MATT KIELTYKA
@METRONEWS.CA

Police are asking for public help after a man's prosthetic leg was stolen from his car Monday.

Vancouver police say a 46-year-old Squamish man had parked his van near E. 8th Avenue and Commercial Drive around 9 p.m. while visiting the city.

When he returned to his car, he found that the driver's side window had been pried down and the door had been unlocked and opened.

Among the items stolen from his vehicle was a black duffle bag with a prosthetic leg inside.

The leg is worth up to $20,000, but is invaluable in ensuring the victim's mobility.

The leg is described as having a flesh-coloured foot with a silver clamp above the ankle and a long aluminum rod with a blue finish.

The duffle bag is black and has Mountain Equipment Co-op logos on it.

Anyone with information is asked to call police at 604-617-3321 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-8477.

Back from the brink?

► PM tells parties: 'It is not too late'
► Layton says: 'There's still time'

The Harper government appears set to fall tomorrow — even as the Conservatives and opposition remind each other there's still time to step back from the edge.

Prime Minister Stephen Harper said the Liberals, NDP and Bloc Québécois — who all plan to vote against the budget handed down Tuesday — can still change their minds.

"The opposition still have the opportunity to put Canadians' interests first," he said.

"It is not too late for them to step back."

He rhymed off a string of measures from the budget, saying they are vital to support a still-fragile economic recovery.

"Our economy is not a political game," he said.

However, the Conservatives have flatly refused to consider any amendments to their budget in order to stave off an election.

NDP Leader Jack Layton said he might still support the government if there are changes he can accept.

"There's still a little bit of time," he said.

"I know Mr. Harper and Mr. Flaherty are saying they can't possibly talk about amending the budget. I don't know why. What's the big obstacle to that? Others have done it before."

Liberal Leader Michael Ignatieff said he's ready to introduce a non-confidence motion today and debate it tomorrow.

"We have a responsibility to say quite clearly that this government has lost the confidence of the House of Commons," he said.

"This government has lost the confidence of Canadians."

Bloc Leader Gilles Duceppe said the Tories want to be defeated.

"Mr. Harper is not fooling anyone," he said.

"He wants an election at all costs."

U.S., European, and Arab and African officials have been invited to London next week for political talks about Libya and how

Canadian jets bomb Libya

▶ Feds dispatched six aircraft to help enforce the no-fly zone

Canadian fighter jets took part in coalition air assaults yesterday that helped drive tanks loyal to dictator Moammar Gadhafi out of Libya's third-largest city.

Coalition aircraft conducted a series of raids on two major centres.

The Canadian air force says four of its CF-18 jet fighters, supported by two air-to-air refuelling aircraft, conducted two separate bombing missions, one overnight and the second later in the day.

The first attack took place at Misrata, east of Tripoli on the Mediterranean coast, the scene of heavy fighting between rebels and Gadhafi forces.

Reports emerging last week from the city of 500,000 said innocent civilians were being shot in the streets as the dictator's soldiers tried to reassert control.

The Canadian raid reportedly destroyed an ammunition depot. Four laser-guided, 226-kilogram bombs were dropped during the raid, said Maj-Gen. Tom Lawson, deputy chief of air staff.

"From all indications, it was a solid military target," Lawson told a briefing in Ottawa.

There were no reports of civilian casualties, but Lawson hastened to add that "couldn't be assured until there was a full battle damage assessment." The air force released aerial video footage of the target being destroyed.

"Every indication was that the attack was very successful and there was no collateral damage," he added.

Buying Face time

► The brave new world of social-media advertising

Everyone knows that Facebook is a place where people share news and photos. But more and more, it's also a place where companies share product pitches.

About 50 million connections are made every day between businesses and Facebook users. But does it translate into a sales bump? "We're testing the waters with that," says David Morelli, public-affairs director for Tim Hortons, which has more than 1.4 million Facebook fans.

Morelli says the jury is out on whether Facebook ads are more effective than other types of marketing, but the company likes the conversational aspect of the social-networking site. "We're not talking at customers, we're talking with them on Facebook."

One thing is certain: Recommendations from "your friends, your family, your colleagues and people you care about" are a special kind of advertising that money can't buy, says Facebook Canada head Jordan Banks. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Do you have a headache? Nausea? The urge to remove your eyes with a salad fork? Then you've got Canadian election fever!

Right this second, Stephen Harper is amassing a pile of neatly folded sweater vests, ready for battle. Michael Ignatieff is doubling his morning series of eyebrow reps. Jack Layton is constructing a kitchen table where he will have homegrown discussions with real Canadian families. And Elizabeth May and Gilles Duceppe are getting mentioned in this passage because they get equal time during election campaigns.

Perhaps this will be your first vote because you've turned 18, recently become a Canadian citizen, or you plug your ears and go "la la la la" as soon as you hear the word "election."

Well, have no fear: You'll get by with my handy-dandy Guide To Voting In Canada.

WHO CAN VOTE?

To vote in a Canadian election, you must be:

- Tall enough to reach the top of a cardboard box on a table and have no fear of gymnasiums.
- Able to say the following sentence whenever required, usually while sitting at a bar: "If you don't vote, you've got no right to complain."

WHO AM I VOTING FOR?

You're voting for an MP, or Manipulative Person. They have been selected by their respective parties based on their ability to mention your name, employ clichés, and touch voters' elbows in a compassionate manner.

For example: "At the end of the day, John, you can tell I care because I'm touching your elbow."

WHAT CAN I EXPECT?

You may be one of those people who assumes an election is no time to expect a high-minded policy discussion. You are what political scientists like to call "correct."

What you can expect are attack ads like this: "Stephen Harper enjoys apple pie. As in, 'American as apple pie.' Is Harper in the pockets of U.S. dessert makers? Well, nobody said he isn't."

Also, expect ads about Ignatieff where a narrator describes him as an "intellectual" in the same tone of voice somebody would normally say "groin lesion."

WHY SHOULD I VOTE?

Because not voting when people in Arab countries are dying for it is like standing in front of a homeless person and dumping your pizza into the garbage can because the slices "all taste the same."

Besides, if you are going to suffer — and you are — you might as well have something to show for it. Nobody escapes Canadian election fever.

The filthy reality of life

Worth mentioning

Dirt has a bad image. Muck, we think: Yuck.

But getting your hands dirty can also be irresistible, as every child knows. A major new museum exhibition in London asks visitors to think again about the filthy and the fetid, exploring the role of dirt as humanity's enemy and ally in history, art, science and medicine.

"Dirt is something we make and encounter every day," said James Peto, senior curator at the Wellcome Collection, where the exhibition opens today.

Peto said the exhibition — Dirt: The Filthy Reality Of Everyday Life — explores both the good and bad sides of dirt.

Dirt — enemy and ally

WELLCOME IMAGES/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Some of it, in the right quantities and the right place, is good for us," he said. "Soil in the sense of 'soiled sheets' is bad, but soil where vegetables grow feeds us."

"And it's where we all end up in the end."

Filth's intimacy and omnipresence may explain some of the terror and fascination that dirt — defined by the exhibition as "dust, excrement, rubbish, bacteria and soil" — holds for us.

We abhor it, but it's also a mark of progress — the more cities, industry and civilization there are, the more dirt, and finding ways to dispose of it has taxed societies for centuries.

Yosuke Mino's ballet career began with a bribe. "My mother told me that if I went to ballet class she'd buy me 10 chocolate bars and two comic books," he says, laughing. "So that's how I started."

The soloist, who began his training at Akiko Kanamaru in Japan before moving to Canada in 1998 to train and perform with the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, has played the Jester in Swan Lake, Blue Bird in The Sleeping Beauty, Mercutio in Rudi van Dantzig's Romeo & Juliet and Pa-pageno in Mark Godden's The Magic Flute.

Now he's taking a trip back to Vancouver as the White Rabbit in RWB's Wonderland, an inventive piece by acclaimed choreographer Shawn Hounsell inspired by the characters, events and themes from Lewis Carroll's iconic story.

"He guides Alice through Wonderland so I guess he's kind of a tour guide," says Mino. "I'm having a really good time."

No word on hookah-smoking caterpillars, but the multimedia production does feature digital projection, an electro-acoustic soundscape and dancers donned in Doc Martens.

Brown blow up could cost him

Chris Brown was slated to appear on Dancing with the Stars next week, but after his violent outburst at Good Morning America earlier this week, that plan may be scrapped, according to Popeater.

"Chris was so dangerous backstage that we called 911," an insider at the morning show says.

"He totally flew off the handle after being asked a question about his 2009 assault of his then-girlfriend Rihanna. Now ABC has to decide if they are willing to let this man promote his music on a family show on its network or walk away from this obviously troubled young man."

Zellweger finds solace from Bullock

PEOPLE While nursing a broken heart in New York City, Renee Zellweger has reportedly found a sympathetic ear in pal Sandra Bullock, according to Pop Eater.

The two actresses caught up with each other this week in the wake of Zellweger's split from Bradley Cooper.

"If anyone can cheer a person up after a bad breakup, it's Sandra," a source says.

"After what Sandra went through, you have no right feeling sorry for yourself at all. I can't think of a better medicine than spending an hour or two with Sandy. The way she handled herself with such grace and dignity after her split is an inspiration to us all."

Some spring and summer staples aren't for everyone.

"Sleeveless tees and white suits. They're just not suitable for every weight and age group — you have to be young or in good shape to pull them off," says stylist Andrew Davis.

And he's not the biggest fan of mandals.

"They only look good on certain people. I mean, who wants to see your toes poking out? They look especially dreadful on pale skin," he adds.

So what should you wear? Here are four tips:

Punch up your outfit with a pop of colour

This season marks a move away from muted tones toward bold colour. It's an easy way to add an edge to your workwear without looking like a full-on fashion victim. "Wear a beautiful bright Yves Klein blue or pillar box red T-shirt under a navy suit or with chinos or just colour-block half the body," Davis says.

Master the art of summer suiting

Ditch the wool tailoring for something lightweight. "Try a linen suit in soft blue or gray and wear it with a white shirt and a club or check tie. It can look really cool and classic," Davis says. And if you're feeling adventurous, skip the tie and rock a — wait for it — neckerchief. "It's a bit Hannibal Lector-esque."

Nail down the perfect casual style

Every man should have a few nautical items in his closet because they look polished, can be easily mixed and matched, and are just hard to screw up. A few things to buy now: "A boxy, double-breasted jacket, chambray shirt, chinos, moccasins, breton top and a toggle coat," he says.

Get your short lengths right

"Shorts are a bit shorter this season; they're cut above the knee," Davis explains. For lounging on the weekend, Andrew suggests a jogger short, which has a relaxed fit (Important: When you're wearing shorts, they should hit higher up on the leg).

Bringing the outside in

► If you look outside, it likely doesn't resemble spring ► But you can at least make your home ready for the season

DESIGN CENTRE

KARL LOHNES
HOME@
METRONEWS.CA

While it may technically be spring, getting out to enjoy the weather may still be a few weeks away.

And this spring is supposed to be a cold and damp one.

Luckily, there's a huge trend in bringing outdoor decor inside, and now more than ever is the perfect time to inject some springtime inside our homes.

From bright garden colours and the smell of flowers to rustic natural elements, let's get a head start on spring by decorating with an outdoor theme with these easy ideas.

If we can't enjoy the outdoors, let's bring it inside!

ALL PHOTOS ARE HANDOUTS

Add a wall of springtime colour

As I've been reporting since last fall, adding a focal wall of colour in a room is no longer an old-fashioned thing to do.

Choose a wall that is the focal point to the room. For instance, the headboard wall in the bedroom, the TV wall in the family room or the fireplace wall in the living room are all good candidates. If using paint, then add a darker or dramatic colour to help add drama to a room. Dark green, mustard or orange are all colours from outside and will bring a strong sense of nature inside.

If using wallpaper, choose a large-patterned floral motif for an eye-popping surprise. Wallpapers are now much easier to remove than they used to be, so don't be afraid to get daring with pattern. When you tire of it just simply peel off and repaint the wall.

Incorporate worn-looking furnishings into the home

Bleached, limed and driftwood tones are all the rage. They can help lighten the dark brown tones that we've been decorating with over the past years.

A statement piece, such as a single dresser, a hallway bench or an end table, will work best in this finish. Choosing it for an entire dining set or living room case would be overkill for a trend that is only expected to hang around for three to four years.

Got an old, cheap mahogany antique that you're tired of?

Sand it then rub some grey latex paint into the exposed wood grains. Buff it with wax and you'll have the trendiest look of the season for furniture.

Create the smell of the garden

There's nothing more refreshing than opening the windows and getting a floral-filled breeze. But it doesn't look like that will be happening around the country anytime soon.

Create a garden of scent around your space with the new Crabtree & Evelyn Floral Fragrance Collection — an iris candle in the hallway, lavender candle in the bedroom, rose candle in the bath and a lily candle in the living room, and you'll experience a variety of garden floral scents that change from room to room.

Want taste: Grow your own garden goodies

► Spring is here — officially — so get your green thumb ready ► It's important to plan before you sow

Some things bear repeating: Plant vegetables.

The taste of fresh-picked beans, lettuce and tomatoes, grown from seeds of varieties bred for flavour rather than commercial appeal, will knock your socks off.

Not to mention the satisfaction of doing "work" that puts food directly into your belly.

Planned correctly, the most basic vegetable garden takes little time or effort.

LOCATION, LOCATION

First, the site. For the plants' sake, full sun — at least six hours daily — and well-drained soil are a must.

If water stays puddled on the ground more than a few hours after rain has stopped, roots will suffocate.

EASY BEGINNINGS

The quickest and easiest way to start a garden is to merely smother the existing lawn or weeds.

One reason most gardeners till is to aerate the soil, but your soil won't need aeration if you lay it out in permanent planting beds, each 90 centimetres wide, and paths, each 45 centimetres wide. Make a plan on paper, and keep the beds and paths in the same place year after year. Walk only on the paths; never set foot in a bed.

After you have mapped out your garden, search the Internet or Yellow Pages for local "Compost" and "Arborists." You want compost for the planting beds, and wood chips from an arborist for the paths between the beds.

Before you lay down the chips and compost, mow or knock down existing weeds or lawn, then smother them beneath paper.

Wet the paper as you lay it down to soften it and keep it from blowing, and overlap the edges. Before the end of the season, the grass or weeds will be dead, and your plants' roots will have grown into and through the nearly decomposed paper.

PLANT

Now plant, right into the compost. When planting in beds, space the plants closer together than usually recommended. You can crowd three or four rows down each bed because you'll be doing all your weeding and harvesting from the paths, rather than having to walk between the rows.

DIY Network Canada's Bath Crashers (airing Tuesdays at 10 p.m. ET/PT) offers tips on simple bathroom makeovers.

Clean and Purge

The first step in giving your bathroom a fresh look is to take inventory of all your belongings and eliminate the excess. Removing clutter creates more space for reorganizing and decorating.

Make Room

If the sink is freestanding, create additional storage by fashioning a sink skirt.

Measure the dimensions along the three sides of the sink that face outwards and the distance between the bottom of the sink and the floor.

Cut the measured dimensions out of a washable fabric.

Attach an adhesive Velcro to the inside of the sink and the top of the fabric.

Attach the fabric's Velcro to the sink's Velcro. The fabric adds to the decor of the room and creates a space to keep items tucked away and out of sight.

Personalized Shower Curtain

For many bathrooms, the shower curtain is the focal point of the room and replacing the shower curtain can immediately change the entire design.

Consider making one yourself to suit your personal style.

Measure the length and width of the current shower curtain and cut the dimensions out of the desired fabric.

Hold the fabric up to the current shower liner and use a fabric pen to mark where the shower ring holes are located.

Using fabric scissors, cut a slit in the fabric about an inch long.

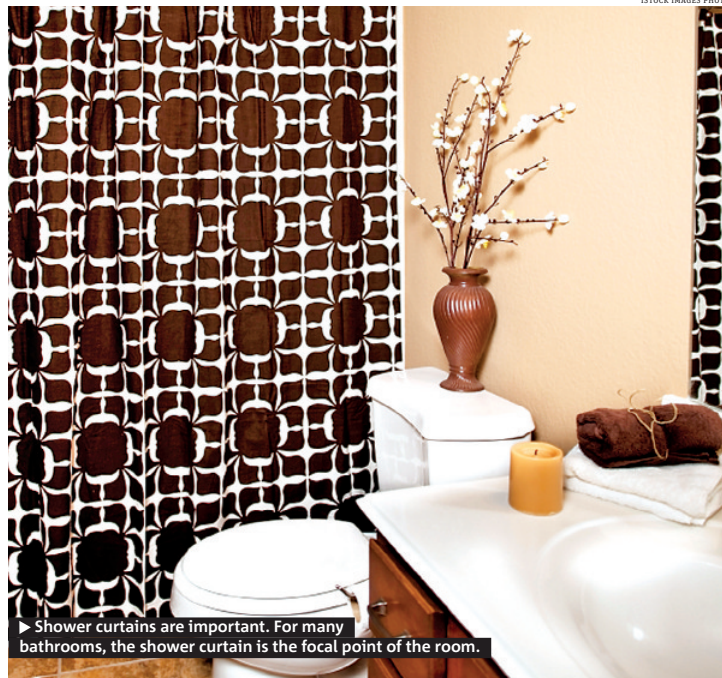

Attach the new shower curtain and shower liner to the shower rings and enjoy the new, customized decor.

The Little Things

For a quick bathroom spruce up, consider small projects like removing outdated cabinet knobs and replacing them with new ones.

Also consider storing toiletries in colourful, plastic bins to give your space a splash of colour and replacing worn-out towels and bathmats to give the room a crisp, refreshed look.

► Roberto Luongo bends to stop a shot as Detroit's Daniel Cleary circles the crease.

Canucks clip sliding Wings

► Vancouver adds to its cushion atop West standings with win in Detroit

The Vancouver Canucks moved a big step closer toward securing home-ice advantage throughout the playoffs.

Daniel Sedin scored twice and Roberto Luongo made 39 saves, leading Vancouver to a 2-1 win against the Detroit Red Wings last night.

The NHL-leading Canucks have won eight of nine, building a 10-point lead over Detroit — the second-place team in the Western Conference — with eight games left. Vancouver has an eight-point edge over East-leading Philadelphia.

CANUCKS	RED WINGS

"It's good, for sure," Henrik Sedin said. "I think we all know math a little. It's going to be tough for the other teams to catch up."

Detroit is hurting without key players Pavel Datsyuk and Johan Franzen, both of whom are being rested because of lower-body injuries, and is mired in a 0-2-1 slump.

Sedin, the league scoring leader with 95 points, has at least one in nine straight games to improve his chances of being the NHL MVP a year after his twin brother won the award.

"Henrik's doing most of the talking," he said. "He's been pumping me up."

Daniel Sedin was playing two days after being with his wife for the birth of their third child.

"Imagine if he would've practised once," Vancouver coach Alain Vigneault joked. "He was off for four days, flew in (Tuesday) night and was able to get in a morning skate."

He scored off Nicklas Lidstrom's skate at 6:31 of the second period and with a power-play one-timer midway through the third against Jimmy Howard.

Jiri Hudler's power-play goal with 8:22 left pulled the Red Wings within one, but they couldn't get the puck past Luongo again.

Hassli finds comfort level early

Eric Hassli grinned and thrust an elbow at an imaginary defender.

Sometimes a gesture speaks volumes when trying to get through an interview with a limited command of English.

"There are a lot of demands physically," the French striker said yesterday through an interpreter when asked about his first game as a Vancouver Whitecap.

The six-foot-four, 200-pound Hassli scored the first and last goals in a 4-2 MLS debut victory over Toronto FC Saturday.

He bulled his way into the penalty area to blast a Davide Chiumiento cross in and tapped home a Wes Knight pass with his right.

Hassli was signed two weeks ago as the club's designated player whose salary can exceed the maximum cap charge of $335,000.

"The league is of very good quality," said Hassli, who was signed out of FC Zurich of the Swiss Super League. "The referees let people play."

Fans wondered whether they would be watching an impotent offence often associated with expansion teams. Hassli, who turns 30 in May, was brought in to address that.

He finished third in Super League scoring with 17 goals in 2008-09.

ECS, you've been my best friend for more than three years now, so it's about time I asked: Do you want to go out with me? MJS

Happy 27th Birthday, Mike! Your 'special' year is over, but this year will be even better! I can't wait to do all of our special things together. I hope u have an amazing birthday! LOVE, ASHLEY

TM, you have made me the happiest girl. These past couple of months have been amazing, and I have you to thank for it. I have fallen for you. LOVE RASH XO

Peter, it has been a whole year since our break up, and I guess it took both of us this time to see that we had something special. I am really happy for us to start over again, this time to make it last forever. with all of my love TAMMY XOXO

Today's horoscope

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 It's not like you to worry about things over which you have no control, so why start now? Whatever the reason you, must get over it because the Sun in your sign promises wonderful opportunities.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 You seem torn between doubling your efforts to reach your goal and giving up on it. But why should it be one or the other? Look for the middle way.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 Focus on positive things and happy thoughts and make sure you avoid people whose negative attitudes might bring you down. If they want to be miserable that's up to them, but you don't have to live with it.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 Something is about to come back into your life that you thought you had seen the last of, but it's no big deal. In a way it's good because this time you know how best to deal with it.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 23 Today's somewhat difficult Saturn-Nep tune contact means you need to take a more even-handed approach to partnership matters. You should know that success depends on co-operation.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24-Sept. 22 What happens today will remind you that sometimes the old way of doing things is best. Fortunately, you have never been one to follow the latest "big thing" so you won't find it too hard to stick with tradition.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 Try not to take too negative a view of other people's motives today, otherwise you might miss out on something that is both enjoyable and profitable.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 You may be tempted to say something negative to a loved one, but is it really necessary? Even if your words are true, think of how her or she might take the situation and make it worse than it needs to be.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 The Sun and Jupiter, your ruling planet, in your fellow Fire sign of Aries will bring the inspiration you have been looking for, so don't try too hard. Give your mind and your body a rest today.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 Don't worry if the words you are searching for remain just out of reach today. You may be feeling a bit tongue-tied at the moment, but it won't last.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 To get the most out of the day, you must limit yourself to those aims that are truly important. If you spread your energy too thin, you will only accomplish a fraction of what could have been done.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20 The more others criticize what you are doing, the more determined you will be to carry on. Anyone who thinks you will change your ways just because he or she says you should has a lot to learn. SALLY BROMPTON

GET MORE MONEY WHEN YOU SELL YOUR GOLD AND SILVER!

Diamonds Buying 20 pt. and up

We are particularly interested in larger diamonds of 1 carat and up.

Gold and silver prices are at all-time highs and this is a great opportunity to sell your gold, silver, platinum and palladium. Since 1967 J&M has always paid the highest price and we are still the highest paying buyers. We have won many awards and years ago the Vancouver Sun did a survey of the local gold buyers and we were the top buyer paying the best prices.

Why do other newcomer buyers offer 5%, 10% or 20% bonuses? Could it be because they are paying so little and have such large profit margins? It is frustrating to see people in our community being taken advantage of by glitzy advertising such as the TV commercials or road shows and home parties, etc..
